Exame Modelo – Prova Específica de Inglês

I. 25%

a) According to the author of this text, what do we need to start doing to climb out of our current social, environmental and financial crises?

According to the author, we can begin to turn around our current social, environmental and financial crises by paying attention to a few specific instances of success rather than hastening to return to the conventional order.

b) What is “boomerang trade” and why is it a problem?

“Boomerang trade” is what happens when identical goods cross each other on the trade paths, thus yielding similar import/export figures for the same product. Such trade could be avoided by consuming locally produced goods.

c) List three reasons why Vanuatu is at the top of the Happy Planet Index?

Vanuatu is at the top of the Happy Planet Index, which ranks a country’s environmental impact in relation to both life expectancy and life satisfaction. Among the reasons for Vanuatu’s success are its economic basis on small-scale agriculture, its avoidance of materialism and competition-induced growth, and the preservation of its communal values.

d) How have supply-end difficulties led to a revamping of the values that underpin the Cuban economy?

Difficulty getting access to new goods and products has forced the Cuban economy to emphasise the values of reuse, repair and recycling. This has shifted the emphasis of their economy from growth to sustainability.
